The Newbie Blueprint - Can This Young Guy's Method Work For You?

Affiliate marketing is basically marketing for some other business. Your job is not to worry about the product or its shipping or support but only to ensure that it sells. You have to sell the product and increase the customer base of the product manufacturer. For this work you will receive a good commission per sale. The value of this commission can be anywhere from 2% to 50% depending on the nature of the product.

Affiliate marketing facts show that successful affiliate marketers (often called "Internet Marketers") come from all walks of life and from many diverse backgrounds. Truth is, if you own a computer, have an internet connection and are willing to learn as you go, there is absolutely nothing stopping you from becoming a successful internet marketer!. The affiliate marketing facts are, many of the most financially successful internet marketers are just simple everyday people like you and !!

Let's split the people - who are involved into Internet marketing and affiliate business - into 2 groups:

- successful
- not successful.

What really separates those successful affiliate marketers from those unsuccessful affiliate marketers? Are those successful marketers smarter or better than you? I bet it is not, they are successful because they work harder than you. Working hard does not necessary make you better but working hard on the right things can definitely make you better than the rest. So what are the right things those successful marketers are doing.

Good question. But before answering it...

Congratulations to you if you are an experienced internet marketer - TheNewbieBlueprint is not your choice.

HOWEVER if you are buried with info about "making money online", then this simple manual will help cut right through all the noise.

I recall reading one review of The Newbie Blueprint recently and he also expressed the thought that there wasn't much 'new stuff' in it but the true value of this short report is that it forced him to re-evaluate what he has been doing online - and why a newcomer can have such impressive success so soon.

Daniel achieved it because he FOLLOWED a simple plan.

Just 5 steps.

Five integrated, connected, logical steps.

No rocket science here - just a sensible system to make money writing articles.

But the thing is... he STUCK to the system.

The articles he wrote in his first month are still producing residual income.

In his second month, he added a whole new month's worth of residual-income-producing articles.

Each month he is increasing the number of passive income generators he's got (that is what published articles are -- passive revenue stream!). They are working day and night for him, triggering affiliate sales... and he gets paid a decent commission every time.

SIX FIGURE INCOME FROM ARTICLES?

His website talks about a 6 figure income from writing ezine articles. Here's how I figure that.

If one month's focussed work generated $3000, that's  $12 \times $3000 = $36,000$  for the year.

In the second month of doing the same, he will add another $3000 of passive income streams. That's  $11 \times $3000 = $33,000$  by year's end... on top of the income streams he set up in month #1.

In his third month, he can add another $3000 worth of income streams, which will add  $10 \times $3000 = $30,000$  by year's end.

Add that up and we're already at $99,000 for the year. Yep, even if half of the articles earn stop working so magically after a few months, the 6 figure claim could turn out to be true if he keeps this up.

I think if I was him, I'd soon be hiring ghostwriters. Hmmm, now you're talking! - more articles, less work, more income. Sounds like a plan to me.

Will you earn a 6 figure income from articles? I have no idea. But if a 20 year old can do it (and incidentally his first language isn't even English), then why not give it a go? With the refund guarantee on his book, if you don't get the results you want get your money back. Win/win.
