How does it work?

I've developed a complex algorithm that extracts relevant pieces of research from a large variety of online indexes based on keywords you provide. That research is grouped and organized using this algorithm in a way that puts related research together. This makes writing your articles much, much faster and easier than trying to go out and do the research yourself.

IAW Pro currently supports searching Google, Yahoo, MSN Live, Google Blog Search, Articles, Google's US Government index, Google Scholar, Google News and Google News Archives. Having multiple sources for gathering research makes it much easier to compile relevant, authoritative information to help you write top quality articles fast.

How does it prevent duplicate articles?

Instant Article Wizard Pro has a random factor in the algorithm that prevents the same research from being gathered for the same keywords each time they are run. That way an article you write on a set of keywords will be different, based on the research found, than another user who writes an article on the same set of keywords.

Even better, this means that you can create multiple unique articles on the same topic keywords. That gives you the ability to post to as many blogs as you want, submit to article directories as many times as you want and get as much content about a topic as you want. The benefit to you is more content, more pages indexed by the search engines and more backlinks to your sites.

What countries and languages are supported?

Right now only the English language is supported, but results from Google, MSN Live, Yahoo and the News and News Archives indexes are all localized based on your selected country. The available countries are the USA, the UK, Australia and Canada.

Some Testimonials From Customers

Let me start this section with this statement: All of the testimonials on this page are from actual paying customers using the product. They are not phoney marketer-swapped testimonials like you so often see on sales pages. Those make me sick.

These REAL testimonials from REAL customers. Some had pictures and included them. Some did not. But read the words. Visit their sites and write to them. Don't believe ME, believe THEM--the customers--the people just like you who had to sit and make the same decision about whether or not this software was worth the investment. They thought it was, and they were NOT disappointed.
