In this article, Ill give you some options to determine your websites quality.br /

br /

1. Cached Pages. Enter Google, and search for site:domain.combr /

Example: site:www.seekposition.combr /

Thats how I can determine how many pages of my websites Google has crawled. This is easy, and of course - more indexed webpages = better. That means more quality content. Forums might be excellent - Each topic = content+new page.br /

br /

2. Back Links. The number of websites linking to you. Remember! Its not just about quality, and its not just about quantity. You need to combine both of them for good results. This is very very important. a

3. Age of domain. Many Search Engines like old domain. The older it is - the better. This is not much important - but still, it helps. When you are moving to a new domain, Remember to do 301 transfers to your new domainbr /

br /

4. Page Rank - This factor is decided by Links only. Here its matter a bit more about quality. This is not a very important factor, but people tend to think it is.br /

br /

5. Title. Your web site title. This is a VERY important factor relating your Google Position. You should a href=http://www.seekposition.com target=_blankCheck Google Position/a at least every 6 days - To see if changes you made are making your position betterbr /

br /

6. Meta Tags. Meta Tags such as Keywords and Description are really important, so use them well. Meta Keywords is less important in this days, but Meta Description still plays an important act - when people search for your website, that is what theyll see.br /

br /

7. Domain. It has been proven that domain name containing keywords can really help. Choose your domain name carefully - It might be a very important factor.br /

br /

8. Text. Text Text Text. Content is almost the most major part about position. It doesnt matter if you are number 1, If you dont have what the visitor wants - hell leave. Google LOVE text. especially quality text. But, dont copy text - you might get punished for that. Google treats text-copying really hard - so watch out.br /

br /

9. Bounces. Google Can Check if a visitor visits a web page by searching it, and then immediately after entering - leaves it. So dont try to rank in the wrong keywords. If you have a website about dogs - you dont need to be number one when people search for horses. This can extremely affect your Google position.br /

10. UnKnown. Nobody know what is all SearchEngines factors. Never trust someone who promises to make sure you will be number one. The same amount of money you pay - everyone else can pay.
