

File Created by Blogging Rebirth WP Plugin

What You Should Know About Domains

A few family members found out that I Resell domains and have asked me to help them purchase domain name , so I've directed them to Sticky Web Domains to purchase quality domains. This website is awesome for buying many different domain extensions like dot mobi, dot com, dot net, dot org, dot info, dot us and so on! You can register your own domain or you can visit their domain name aftermarket to make a offer on a already registered domain name that most likely has aged a couple months or years since it was first registered.

They also offer many other great domain name services such as domain hosting, domain reseller plans and much more! This website offers great prices on all their domain services and even some free extras on most of them. Some friends and family just want a personal blog, while others are going into business, and Sticky Web Domains has great one word and common phrase domains for sale that can give them a jump start on awareness and traffic. Not only that but you can also register a domain name idea of your own if you already have one in mind.

So with this being said I would highly recommend buying a domain with Sticky Web Domains if you are serious about investing within the domain name industry.

Now you have a little knowledge about the domain after market. Now lets talk about the best time to scoop up a profitable domain name. I think it's always best to obtain a new TLD (Top Level Domain) during the land rush if you have a nice chunk of cash on hand. This is when you can put in a application on a new TLD before it is open to the public for registration. There is a fee to put in your application for the domain and you will be emailed on the day you can put in a bid to obtain the domain you want.

If you get lucky and fill out a application on a domain that no one else wanted than you wont have to enter into the auction for that domain name. The going price on a new domain extension during the land rush can be quite expensive. There will always be some domain name collectors or brokers that will be willing to pay a pretty penny for a good domain name. Like many people if you don't plan on investing a lot of money on a domain than it's best to wait till the day of the public registration and scoop up what ever names are left for a discounted rate. So what did we learn today about domain names?

Your making money with AdSense tips are waiting for you here.

You can also find this article published on single file page on filorama.com