The Reasons Of Why The Beginners Lose Money.

The Unwillingness becomes the partner in exchange for necessary knowledge:

This is the freshest reason which I have faced literally some days ago. With me one person has communicated and has asked to help it with installation of contextual advertising. I theoretically have explained all to it. But this person had any problems, and he has asked that I have established contextual advertising on its site.

Not a question, I always go on a meeting to beginners. Certainly, I have agreed, and it is absolutely free, but under one condition that this person will register a new account in the given system of contextual advertising under my partner reference.

In the answer I have received simply ingenious phrase that it will not be registered under my partner reference for when he will work and earn money in contextual advertising, I will not work but only I will receive commission fee. As a result he has decided to eliminate a problem independently.

What is the error of this beginner? His main error is in that he does not perceive the similar help. He will better spend couple of days for information search, than will be registered under the partner reference, and has received the professional help.

Unwillingness to study the new information:

The majority of beginners before starting to create the Internet business have read one, two, well a maximum three books. After that they start to develop the Internet project. But in most cases at them it turns out nothing.

Simply beginners, having read "best sellers", start to earn at once and make on the way simple mistakes. Personally I have read much enough both electronic and paper books about Business. Among this weight of books I seldom enough noticed very important recommendation to beginners that they read free electronic books much, paid electronic books, blogs, forums, dispatches, conducted dialogue at forums.

After all Business in the Internet is not necessary in one place. If the successful one technique of earnings on the Internet it is quite possible yesterday was that for today the given technique will not bring in at all to your the income.

Personally I recommend turning less attention to electronic books for their authors in a pursuit of book volume add a lot of the superfluous. Pay the attention to blogs. On them the helpful information is published in compressed enough kind very much. Therefore you will read it much faster and will not waste time on readings superfluous information.

For example, in my program for reading of RSS-tapes is an order 70 feeds on blogs of subjects interesting me. As the program itself downloads the latest news, I don't have a sense to go after all blogs in search of the fresh information. Daily I receive an order of 40 news which in details I study after that. On time I spend approximately hour-one and a half for studying of the new information.
